

Past, Present and Future of Alzheimer's Disease

Wednesday, December 9, 2020 at 7:00-8:30 PM Eastern

Course Chairs: Jennifer Ingram • Andrew Kirk

Description:

This webinar will review the experience of researchers and their perspectives on how the research is both informing our current practice and offering perspective on how Alzheimer's Disease may radically change in the future.

By the end of this Webinar, participants will be able to:

- Understand the mechanisms and types of AD
- Identify risk and protective factors
- Define the diagnostics pathway and stages of AD
- Describe current and future treatment options and diagnostic guidelines
- Recognize the impact of future treatment options

Audience: Adult Neurologist • Neuroradiologist • Neurophysiologist • Resident • Fellow • Nurses • other HCPs involved in older adult care

Learning Level: Basic (Resident, New Information) • Intermediate (Practicing Physician)

Learning Format: Polling questions • case studies • discussion group/peer exchange • lecture/plenary method • question and answer sessions

CanMEDs Roles: Medical Expert • Communicator • Collaborator • Health Advocate

Time	Presentation Title	Name of Speaker
7:00 PM	Introduction	Dr. Andrew Kirk
7:05 PM	Content presentation	Dr. Andrew Kirk/ Dr. Jennifer Ingram
7:45 PM	Case Discussion & Question Period	All
8:25 PM	Closing Remarks	Dr. Andrew Kirk

Registration Link: https://zoom.us/meeting/register/tJYsfumrpjgpG9d0Bk8H6hvKTwfVXaVBTkM6

This webinar is currently under review for accreditation.